Soviet Union Lashes Out at Red China

By REINHOLD ENS

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union finally lashed back at Red China today, calling for a showdown meeting of the world's Communist parties to thrash out communism's big feud.

Breaking a six-month silence, the Kremlin accused the Chinese of trying to run the Red bloc, to stir political unrest in the Soviet Union, to sabotage Premier Khrushchev's policy of peaceful coexistence and to obtain nuclear weapons at any cost.

The Soviet reply occupied nearly an entire edition of the Communist party newspaper Pravda. In a front-page editorial, Pravda called Mao Tse-tung's regime "the main danger to the unity of the world Communist movement."

Pravda said the final straw was Tuesday when Peking called Khrushchev "the greatest capitalist in history" and demanded that Communists in and out of the Soviet Union repudiate his policies.

The party organ called the attack a "terrible insult to our party and the entire Soviet people."

"It showed conclusively that the leaders of the Communist party of China have passed all limits in their political struggle against the world Communist movement," the editorial continued, "and have chosen the Communist party of the Soviet Union and the Soviet Union as the main target for their attacks."

The remainder of the paper contained an anti-Chinese speech by Mikhail A. Suslov, the Soviet party's chief theoretician. The speech had been kept secret since Suslov delivered it to a meeting of the Soviet Communist party's central committee Feb. 14.

Accusing Red China of "nationalist arrogance" and "great power, egotistical interests," Suslov said: "There is no longer any doubt that Peking is steering a course toward a split among the Communist parties, toward the setting up of factions and groups hostile to Marxism-Leninism."

Suslov accused the Chinese of seeking to usurp the Kremlin's leadership of the world Communist movement and to bring political chaos within the Soviet Union as well.

Although Suslov's speech was laced with harsh language, he did not propose reading Peking out of the Communist movement, as Stalin had tried to do to Marshal Tito's Yugoslavia. Instead, Suslov proposed a meeting of the world's Communist parties "to discuss the basic problems of our time and to hold the broadest possible exchange of opinions in the interest of surmounting the difficulties that have arisen in the Communist movement."

The blast came while Khrushchev was visiting Hungary. The Soviet premier indicated public annoyance with his Chinese critics on Wednesday by saying Peking wanted to spread world revolution on an empty stomach.

"Isn't it better to have good gulash?" Khrushchev asked applauding Budapest factory workers.

Hungary's Communist party came to his support today, accusing the Chinese of "weakening the unity of Communist countries and helping imperialism against the socialist world."

Stephens Buys El Dorado Bonds

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — Stephens, Inc., submitted a low interest rate of 2.969 and the El Dorado city council approved the sale of $150,000 in bonds to the Little Rock firm here Thursday.

The bond issue was passed 1,632 to 778 in a special election Tuesday.

The bonds, with a $91,000 federal grant, would finance improvements in Goodwin Field, the municipal airport. The bonds would be paid out over a 20-year period.

Cloudy today with showers and scattered thundershowers. Cooler in the northwest today, in the southeast tonight.

Completion of Superroad Soon

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Acting state Highway Director Ward Goodman said Thursday that the 70 miles of Interstate 55 in Arkansas should be completed by the end of the year.

Fifty-nine miles of the Chicago to New Orleans route have been opened to traffic, and the other 11 are under contract, he said. The route extends north from West Memphis to the Missouri state line through Blytheville.

Absenteeism Appears in the Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate takes up the fight for the House-passed civil rights bill today amid signs of growing absenteeism in their ranks.

Sens. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., and John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., were assigned to spell out the arguments for this part of the measure in behalf of the bipartisan coalition arrayed against Southern opponents.

Having a tandem of Democratic and Republican speakers each day is the pattern established by the bill's proponents in taking the offensive this week.

Another key part of their strategy is to keep the debate moving by having enough senators around to produce quickly a quorum—a majority of the 100 members.

But Thursday, Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., and Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., leaders of the coalition, were away. And it took 53 minutes to round up one quorum, 43 minutes to produce another.

Douglas, in his prepared remarks, upheld authority that would be conferred on the attorney-general to initiate school desegregation suits if he finds individual citizens are unable to act in their own behalf.

He said this part of the bill is essential because "only one per cent of the Negro school children in the states of the Old Confederacy are now in desegregated schools" 10 years after the Supreme Court's ruling that racially segregated public schools are unconstitutional.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Little Rock still faces a proposed Negro boycott of schools Monday, with attempts to form a bi-racial committee to avert it apparently stymied.

The situation is this: Two Negro organizations, the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee and the Council of Community Affairs, have proposed a boycott by the 7,000 Negro pupils in the city, protesting what they term "tokenism."

The school board integrated all grades at a meeting two weeks ago but refused to discuss the situation with Negro leaders.

Later both sides met and declared afterwards nothing had been accomplished.

A ministerial group has called for establishment of a bi-racial committee to avert the boycott but disputes arose over the makeup of such a committee. A school board meeting was called Thursday, presumably to decide whether the school board should appoint a member to it, but four of the five members did not attend.

James Forman, executive secretary of the SNCC, told the Associated Press Thursday that formation of such a committee would "help alleviate the necessity of a boycott."

Meanwhile, Negroes have held two rallies to promote interest in the boycott. A third meeting is set tonight and the final gathering Sunday night.

Vandals Bring Neosho Curfew

NEOSHO, Mo. (AP) — Eversone 19 years of age and under has been banned from the streets of Neosho after 7 p.m. unless accompanied by a parent or guardian.

The City Council adopted the curfew Thursday and put up a $300 reward to a tip leading to the vandals who have damaged 250 automobiles in 10 days.

LBJ Tells Reds 'Guard Is Up' In NATO Talk

By BARRY SCHWELD

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has told the Communist world on the 15th anniversary of NATO's founding that the United States is ready to settle differences that separate East and West.

"Our guard is up, but our hand is out," the President declared Friday as he blended conciliation with firmness in a nationwide address that evidently was keyed as much for foreign as home consumption.

"We must be alert to any hope of stable settlement with those who have had vigilance essential," Johnson said. "In particular we must have alive to the new spirit of diversity now abroad in Eastern Europe."

At another point, the President struck this note again, that Washington does not view all Communist nations alike and that it is alive to the opportunity of taking advantage of the differences.

"We did not make the Iron curtain," he said. "We did not build the wall. Gates in the curtain are welcome, and so are holes in the wall, whenever they are not hedged by traps."

Johnson spoke on the eve of the 15th anniversary of the signing of the North Atlantic Treaty which bound together 15 Western nations in an anti-Communist military alliance that stretches from Turkey to Norway.

Standing before a bank of flags in the White House East Room the President said that since 1949 the Communist "danger has receded, but it has not disappeared." The same 15 years, he said, have witnessed "the longest upward surge of economic growth that our Atlantic world has ever known."

"We have one well," he said in summation, but added: "The temptation to relax must always be resisted."

Judge Will See That He Votes

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Justice of the Peace Walter Lagergren imposed a 60-day jail sentence on Emmett Covan of Pensacola Wednesday on a charge of public drunkenness.

The justice of the peace is a candidate for renomination in the May 5 primary.

"But judge," protested Covan, 56, "I won't be able to vote for you."

"That's all right," replied Lagergren, "I'll send you an absentee ballot."

Faubus Made Appearance at the Spa

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus made his first public appearance in Hot Springs today since he ordered the city's wide-open gambling closed down a week ago.

"If Hot Springs has lost an industry," Faubus said, "the Hot Springs Rehabilitation Center is one it will have for a long time."

He spoke to more than 500 persons at commencement ceremonies at the rehabilitation center. Forty-five disabled persons who have been rehabilitated were leaving the center.

Faubus got a standing ovation when he was introduced. He used the commencement address to take pointed jabs at his critics and at former Gov. Sid McMath, who said Thursday that he will consider running for governor if Faubus runs again.

Faubus was listing what his administration had accomplished, in comparison with what he called smaller accomplishments of other administrations. "I'm not like some of the other men who have sat in the governor's chair," he said, "and I saw the name of one of them (McMath) in the paper yesterday."

"I wish many of my critics were here this morning," Faubus said. "If some of those critics could come down out of the ivory tower of the editorial room they would see what is really going on in this state."

He pointed out Sen. Q. Byrum Hurst in the audience and praised Hurst. "He has never been found to be opposed to anything good for the people and he is never afraid to stand up for what he believes," Faubus said.

Rare Treat in Store for Hope Music Lovers in Concert by a former Local Resident

By MARY ANITA LASETER

Music lovers in Hope are excited about a rare treat which is in store for them next Friday, April 10 at Hope High School, when the Friday Music Club will present Mrs. Robert Sard in piano concert. The pianist will be remembered as the former Mary Belle Marshall of Hope, and she now makes her home in Urbana, Ill.

It has been said that the most outstanding part of any program should be the beginning and the ending. In the case of Mrs. Sard's concert it is hard to decide which will probably be her most distinguished selection. The program will be in three parts and will open the Bach's "French Suite in G Major" in seven movements. The concluding selection, by Beethoven, will be "Sonata in E. Major, Op. 109." The latter will be in three movements with variations on through six on the third movement.

What about the "middle of the sandwich" of this tasty musical serving? It will be most unusual, for, in effect, the Lake Charles, La., Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Mrs. Sard's brother, George Ruffin Marshall, will appear with her for Mozart's "Concerto in A Major, K.488" in three movements. Of course, the orchestra will not appear visibly, but it will be audible in a most distinct manner through the use of taped passages over Klipsch speakers.

The term, "home talent," becomes impressively complementary when such artists as Mrs. Sard come back home. Her appearance, plus the symphony orchestra of Mr. Marshall, plus the outstanding quality of sound reproduction by our own Paul W. Klipsch combine to give a hopeful quality to an evening of entertainment.

Mrs. Sard studied music at the New England Conservatory at Boston, and has appeared in concert with the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra. On Tuesday, April 7, just prior to her performance here on April 10, she will appear with the Lake Charles Symphony Orchestra.

Young people will play an important part in this evening of music. At the concert ushers will be Cathy Feild, Ruth Ann Wylie, Susan and Ellen Turner, Rachel Batson, Virginia Edwards, and Gayle Medders.

Following the performance, the public is invited to a reception at the Home Economics Cottage. They will be given the opportunity to meet Mrs. Sard or renew acquaintances with her. The Home Ec girls and Mrs. H. L. Hanegan will serve.

Make your plans now to attend the Sard Concert at Hope High School Friday, April 10 beginning at 8 p.m. Tickets are 50c for students and $1 for adults and may be obtained from any member of the Friday Music Club or purchased at the door.

Concessions Made by the L. R. Board

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Little Rock School Board made some concessions today designed to head off a threatened boycott of the schools by Negroes Monday.

The boycott was scheduled by the Council on Community Affairs, which criticized the board for progressing too slowly with desegregation.

The council also asked that Negroes be hired in supervisor jobs and that the board make sure that Negro students at integrated schools are allowed to participate in all activities.

The board refused to guarantee a speedup in integration. But it did agree to consider Negro applicants for its next supervisory vacancy and it issued a policy statement that all students are eligible to participate in all extra-curricular activities for which they are qualified.

The latter statement does not mention race as the council wished but the board made it clear at a meeting earlier this week that it would consider mentioning race in such a statement an example of reverse discrimination.

Supt. of Schools Floyd Parsons said the statement had been delivered to Negro leaders and he could not say at this time whether it will result in the boycott being called off.

"I assume it will be presented to the Negroes," he said. The board certainly hopes that it results in cancellation of the boycott.

As for speeding up integration, the board said it had operated and would continue to operate under the pupil assignment law which Negroes contend has been used illegally to hold down integration.

The Council on Community Affairs and the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee had asked 7,000 Negro pupils to stay home from school Monday.

Under its present policy the board has admitted 123 pupils to predominantly white schools this year and it has desegregated at all levels.

At a March 21 meeting, the party's attorney, Henry Britt of Hot Springs, said 21 counties did not fulfill statutory provisions for naming their representatives on the state committee.

One party source said the question is vital to the party's future.

"If the Democrats can find any flaw anywhere, you can bet they'll be in there trying to keep Republican candidates off the November general election ballot for every state and local and national office, including governor and president," the source said.

Britt said that to properly qualify a state committeeman, a county had to have held a primary or certify to the state GOP convention in 1962 its county committee organization and officers and must have certified delegates attending the 1962 convention.

He said 21 counties failed to certify delegates and answer roll call and had not certified committee organizations to the state office.

The executive committee said the counties should be given instructions Saturday on how they could correct their organization before the April 29 filing deadline.

The committee also will decide Saturday on ground rules for selecting delegates to the Republican National Convention.

It also must formally set the date for the primary and decide whether Lie Carter of Benton or Warren Lieblong of Pine Bluff is the properly elected member of the executive committee from the 4th Congressional District.

Bulletin

WASHINGTON — Gen. Douglas MacArthur "shows signs of entering a peaceful coma," Walter Reed Medical Center announced Friday night.

That statement, without any amplification, was attributed by a hospital spokesman to Lt. Gen. Leonard Heaton, the surgeon general of the Army.

It was not determined whether this latest word meant that the five-star general had reached a new crisis in his long series of ordeals but it was the first time that the word "coma" had been used in any bulletin concerning his condition since he entered the Army Medical Center March 2.

The white and gray twister, viewed in horror by many standing in downtown streets and watching local television, drilled suburbs and nearby Sheppard Air Force Base.

An estimated total of 240 half-mile swath carved by the homes were demolished in a funnel, its leaning, S-shaped form weaving like a snake against patches of blue sky.

Cars were hurled through the air. Bed springs, mattresses and household furnishings soared among debris into the streets.

At Sheppard the walls of a hangar collapsed around 300 airmen momentarily trapped. The funnel lifted as it approached Sheppard School where children huddled in halls while debris rained about the building.

"I just can't believe we managed to come through it," said R. B. Bentley, 30, grocery store owner who saved his wife and daughter, 2, by pushing them into a walk-in ice box.

Gov. John B. Connally called out 100 National Guardsmen to help keep order after the storm. One hundred men and vehicles patrolled the devastated area, estimated by the Department of Public Safety to include 50 to 60 city blocks.

But as one officer put it: "You don't have to worry about looting. It didn't leave anything worth looting."

The Wichita County Red Cross estimating 300 persons left homeless, set up shelters to feed and house victims. In Washington, the Federal Housing Administration said it is making some 150 surplus houses and apartments available to the homeless.

Mobile canteens sped in from Dallas and Fort Worth.

Complicating the relief operations were knocked-out power lines and limited communications.

Sixty-nine persons were injured, 46 remaining in hospitals. Twenty-nine were personnel from Sheppard.

The tornado, sparing the downtown area, made its lethal appearance in the West Wichita Falls community of Pleasant Valley. Swinging northeasterly, it wrought the heaviest damage in the Sunset Terrace and Lincoln Heights residential sections.

Then, dipping and twisting, it swept across the heavily populated air base, hitting nurses' quarters, barracks and the civil engineering base.

Startled residents took refuge under street and highway overpasses. Some abandoned cars.

Mississippi and Minnesota already have such associations and Louisiana farmers are planning one. Eventually Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi may form a tri-state organization with full-time professional emcees.

Soybean production has been growing sharply since World War II. This year's acreage and crop are expected to set new records.

But peaks in grower prices may well have been reached and passed. Today's report told of market weaknesses in the soybean situation. Few soybeans are being crushed this season than last. The report said this reflected the fact that soybean prices are out of line with the combined returns from the oil and meal, the existence of surplus vegetable oils and a decline in demand for meal because of less favorable livestock prices.

The report said that so far this season soybean crushers have had an average spread of only 4 cents a bushel between the prices paid for soybeans and the prices they got for the meal and oil.

"This is evidently too small to permit profitable operations and the crush of soybeans has been reduced despite the availability of a plentiful supply of soybeans," the department said.

If farmers continue to hold soybeans for higher prices, which the department said are not likely to come, and if crushers' margin continues small, the department probably will have to take over beans under price support loans. The department stocks at the end of the 1963 crop season on Oct. 1 were forecast at 35 million bushels compared with 15 million a year earlier.

The department said soybean prices to farmers during the April-September period are likely to decline from the February level of $2.57 a bushel. But it said prices may average at about $2.45—the same as a year earlier. The price support rate is $2.25.

The department said prices have been held above the support level by grower holding of supplies off markets for higher prices.

The soldier taken off the train was identified by military authorities as Pvt. Kenneth R. Murray. He was placed in the isolation ward of a hospital at Springfield, Mo. A spokesman at the hospital said it has not yet been definitely confirmed that Murray has meningitis.

Thirty eight other soldiers traveling in the same car were quarantined here. Army officials prepared to move them to Ft. Sill, Okla., for treatment.

Search for Soldier With Meningitis

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — An intensive search was launched today for civilian passengers of a Frisco Railroad train after it was learned a soldier aboard the train may have spinal meningitis.

Seven Killed In Tornado at Wichita Falls

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) — This northwest Texas city, its suburban fringe, grotesquely mangled, struggled to recover today from a tornado which killed seven persons, injured scores and left hundreds homeless.

Damage was estimated unofficially at $2 million.

The white and gray twister, viewed in horror by many standing in downtown streets and watching local television, drilled suburbs and nearby Sheppard Air Force Base.

Asks Change in a Fast Moving World

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Re-examination takes time, changes come slowly, old attitudes don't get unstuck easily, and in a country as full of prejudices as this one politicians step gingerly.

Over a year ago the Kennedy people began saying winds of change were sweeping the world after Soviet Premier Khrushchev packed up his missiles in the 1962 Cuban missile crisis and took them home.

In the last few months of his life President John F. Kennedy spoke repeatedly on the idea of finding new ways to peace. At American University he said, "Let us re-examine our attitude toward peace itself."

At the University of Maine he said, "While it is too late to say nothing has changed in Soviet-American relations, it is too early to assume that the change is permanent."

These were cautious statements to get people thinking, but pitched in a low key, no doubt to prevent any sudden surge of false hopes about the immediate future.

What changes did take place since the Cuban crisis and up through Kennedy's death to the present time?

The biggest, perhaps, has been the intensified split between the Soviet Union and Red China, dividing communism into two huge and antagonistic blocs which, if continued, almost certainly will force them to seek new friends.

Then there was the limited American-Russian agreement to ban nuclear tests, an achievement long discussed but never attained before. Meanwhile, American allies stepped up trade with communism.

French President Charles de Gaulle, while safe under the American defense umbrella from Russian attack, took it on himself to be a disruptive force in the West, and in his usual crude and overbearing way.

Nevertheless, in the past week President Johnson, Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, and Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., all in separate speeches talked of a changing world.

Fulbright, like Kennedy, asked for a reexamination of attitudes but he went further than any of them by suggesting that changes in the world require changes in American foreign policy on a number of fronts.

This was like throwing a nest of bees into a crowded bus where the passengers had been sitting comfortably on their old

Medders tore through the curtain of breaking brush, scrambled into the cave and—in that moment of blindness while his vision adjusted—strode headlong into something roundly rigid that sent the breath whistling through his teeth.

There is something about the snout of a firearm that is seldom mistaken for anything else. Stopped cold in his tracks there wasn't much Medders could do but goggle. Even the return of his sight was no great advantage in the glare of those eyes blazing into his own.

"Don't open your mouth!" Belita Storn said in a voice that would have broke off a white oak post. For moments they stood like things harked out of wood in a stillness rasped only by the jerk of her breathing.

Then, abruptly, she took the pistol away and stepped back. She said: "I can't do it!" and whirled in a swirl of skirts and stalked off.

He heard the slap of hurrying feet and realized his hired hands were departing.

He did have some problems. They were beginning to close in like the Sioux on Custer, but one thing stood out too plain to miss. Let these boys get away from him and he could sure wave goodbye to any chance of getting out the rest of that ore.

He could see that creepy Heap Walker's black stare and the magic looks of at least a couple others twisting round to take his measure. To get respect from their kind you had to show you could command it.

He raised the Sharps. This could prove kind of tricky what with all them rocks, the drop and desperate energy put into their flight by the lift of that rifle. He pushed the aperture of the sight vane up to the 200-yard mark, found a crotch to rest the barrel on and waited for his quarry to come into the target area.

The loudmouthed Walker was the first to come bounding into the lens. Medders opened his mouth, quick breathing, and squeezed off. The recoil belted his shoulder. The deep-throated boom of exploded powder went banging out over the canyon's rock faces with the ground shaking racket of a battery of howitzers. The stone finger flew, apart in a burst of shattered fragments not three jumps ahead of high-bounding Walker.

The insurrection was over. They came dragging themselves back, mean-eyed sullen but cowed. Past the white

Might Find Bills Climbed During March

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—A lot of Americans found their total bills down a bit in February. A greater number probably found them higher. And for most the March bills were likely to have been still climbing slightly. The trend isn't due to change much this month.

That's how the family budget stacked up, no matter how the government's consumer price index looks on the charts, with its first dip since December 1962.

But other government statistics do paint a pleasant picture. The average factory worker's take-home pay went up in February by around $1 a week. This was due to the rise in industrial activity which saw the average factory work week go to 40.3 hours from January's 39.8 hours.

In March activity continued brisk. Even more, the cut in the federal income tax withholding rate added dollars to take-home pay for almost everyone.

This month many persons who may have found extra jobs during the Easter shopping rush won't be cashing paychecks. But in general wages and salaries should be pouring even more into the economy than in March.

Thus, the expected slight rise in the cost of living may well be more than offset by increased personal incomes.

The little dip in the Bureau of domestic dips.

If the next point isn't logical, never mind—it's a valuable caution: Never tell a husband that you are tired.

This sets off a complex male behavior. It goes like this: you aren't tired, he's tired.

So, when he asks, "How was your day?" and if he is solicitous if not downright affectionate by asking you, it is permissible to say something like, "Fine, maybe a little beat." But if you think you detect sympathy, don't press your luck, because if you do, a glazed look may cloud his eye, and without looking up from what he's doing he'll say something like, "That's nice, dear."

At this point, your patience may run out, and you may be tempted to say that he doesn't care, and besides, he doesn't love you anymore. He'll then say he does, and this becomes the next point at issue; who loves whom the most. So, the three words, "How are you?" are a potential danger signal. Don't tell him too much.

Keep Admirers To Yourself

Now, your admirers, even innocent admirers. Of course, you have had them in the past, and might have one or two in the present. You know, other husbands you met at parties who dance well.

Never flaunt their attentions before your husband. In the first case, that is, of a past admirer, his answer will be something like this, "Well, if he was so all-fired great, why didn't you marry him?" So, what started as an innocent by-play by you may end in tears, by you.

And the same for current admirers. He won't be jealous, what you hoped for. He will think you are making it up to make him jealous, which you probably are, and which he knew in the first place. Nothing ventured, and a heated discussion gained.

And there are other small storm warnings a wife should heed. They seem innocuous, but like a hurricane, they can build up rapidly. For instance, it's perilous to start a sentence with, "Never mind, I'll do it." Or, "Aren't you ever going to?" They've started more controversies in marriage than the "other woman."

Sleep, Man Style

And another suggestion: Never, at any time, discuss something else: a man's sleep. Whether he slept or didn't, how he did, he was just cat-napping, or wasn't.

I don't know why sleep is such a completely private masculine undertaking, but it is. For instance, this: your husband may go sound asleep during an evening's television, and prove it by snoring. You hear it, and the children chuckle about it.

But ask him later how he enjoyed his nap, and he'll vehemently deny he slept at all. He was not asleep. He heard every word of the program. But, of course, don't ask him what happened.

So, these are some of the verbal pitfalls to sidestep in marriage. They show how a simple question can lead to a complicated answer, and unexpectedly set off a marital controversy. Don't ask me why men react this way. They just do.

Jumps 7 Stories But She Lives

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Police said a woman who came to town looking for a tall building leaped from the seventh story of a downtown hotel at midnight. She lived.

She was identified as Alexandra Cowen, 39, of Livermore in Northern California. She told hospital attendants later she came here by bus because "there were no tall buildings in Livermore."

Officers said her plunge was broken by a 20-foot wire stretched from the building to a palm tree. Her fall snapped the wire and she fell into thick foliage.

Doctors said she suffered deep chest lacerations, a fractured skull and internal injuries.

Educators Observe Blind Teacher

By MICHAELA S. PYLE

Gettysburg Times

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Educators here are observing a blind student teacher in an experiment that could open new horizons for sightless men and women.

While local administrators view the project with some apprehension, 69 students of Spanish at Gettysburg High School are enthusiastic about William J. Shoemaker Jr., whose other senses are so acute that no student dares to be obstreperous or inattentive.

Blind from birth, the 21-year-old language major at Gettysburg College will complete a 14-week student teaching program at the local high school in mid-May. He will receive his B.A. degree in June and will begin graduate studies at the University of Pennsylvania in September.

Shoemaker is one of two blind children of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Shoemaker Sr., Valley Stream, N.Y., elementary teachers in the New York City school system. Bill and his sister, Ruth, a sophomore at Gettysburg College, both were born blind, victims of optic nerve atrophy. Each is determined to teach in public schools.

When Shoemaker came to Gettysburg College four years ago Dr. Russell Rosenberger, head of the department of education, questioned the advisability of his going into education.

"But I soon realized that his determination to become a teacher was much stronger than any of the obstacles I thought he faced," Rosenberger said.

Shoemaker recognizes the obstacles, but he believes he can of Labor Statistics' consumer price index in February is traced largely to refunds on gas utility bills on the West Coast and to lower rates in some other parts of the country. This followed a U.S. Supreme Court decision that the Federal Power Commission had the right to regulate gas transmission rates.

To this was added lower gasoline prices in scattered communities having price wars, and to lower used car prices.

Those living elsewhere or not buying used cars may wonder why the living costs are supposed to have dropped.

Actually most other items on the index were higher than in January, and all but the utility costs higher than a year ago. And these other items are those affecting almost everyone—food, clothing, housing, medical care, transportation, recreation.

For the nation as a whole, however, the index stood at 107.6 in February. This means that the goods and services that cost you $100 in the 1957-59 base year set you back by $107.60 this February, against $107.70 in January and $106.10 in February 1963.

and sex combined.

The question is this: "How do things up, he was savagely denounced by some politicians of both parties in Congress to the point of implying this conservative Southerner was outlining surrender to communism."

Both Johnson, who had talked of change, and Secretary of State Dean Rusk, who earlier this year pictured 1964 as a year when long deadlocked cold war issues may start moving out of deadlock, said Fulbright was "thought-provoking."

But then Rusk disagreed with Fulbright on how to handle Cuba and Johnson disagreed on Cuba and Panama.

Johnson is the man upon whom rests the task of invoking changes, if there are to be any by this country.

But Johnson is new to foreign affairs, this is an election year when he hopes to be chosen president on his own, and he is very sensitive to popular attitudes. So far he hasn't tried to disturb them.

So any changes in foreign policy would seem more likely next year than this, unless they are an obvious and incontrovertible improvement.

NEVER SAY THESE THINGS TO YOUR HUSBAND

By DR. JOYCE BROTHERS

There are a number of things every wife should know about what not to say to a man. We can be married to a man for a lifetime and not quite realize them. All we know is that we say something, and suddenly things go wrong.

Here we are getting on fine, then suddenly the conversation misfires and we're barely on speaking terms. Why?

Marriage counselors have looked into it and find this: usually, a wife asks a question, and her husband's answer triggers things off. He doesn't mean it this way, and his answer seems harmless. Then and there the quarrel begins.

All in all, there are several rules on what you must not bring up if you want a peaceful marriage.

Those Four Fatal Words

First of all, there is a common four-word question. It is dangerous for a wife to ask, and these four words have started more arguments than in-laws attitudes for years.

Although praised for stirring I look?"

Ask it, and you're wasting your time, and your spouse's. If you don't look all right, he'll notice. If you do, he won't. If you have a slip showing, or your lipstick is crooked, it will catch his eye immediately. But a new hair-do, a trimmer figure, a smart dress? Never.

The best you can hope for as an answer to the question, "How do I look?" is, "Fine, dear," while he continues to read whatever he's been reading. So don't ask. Decide how you look yourself.

And another dangerous ground is when a man criticizes his own relatives, such as his brother, his sister, or a parent. If he says, "Sometimes I think Jane is completely crazy," do not say, "She certainly is!"

He'll reply, "Well, I don't really mean that!"

And you'll add, quite off-guard, "But I do." Then, you're really in it.

You are criticizing his relations again. You are attacking his flesh and blood. So, a warning, no comment if he does criticize his relations. Take the neutral corner.

When Neighbors Quarrel

Now, as for discussions about the neighbors. In a next-door marital squabble, you take your neighbor's wife's side at your peril. See what can happen:

Wife: "I don't know how Betty can stand it. John is getting simply impossible."

Husband: "Well, I don't think Betty is any prize package to live with, by any means."

At this point, you're off. Neighbors react this way—if the neighbors are having marriage trouble, the woman is wrong. Your husband will prove his no-prize-package conviction by adding that, first, Betty's home is a mess; second, her children are undisciplined; and third, he's surprised her husband comes home at all.

At this advanced stage, the discussion may remind your husband of something you haven't done. And you could have avoided such involvement by simply saying, "It does seem a shame the Andersons aren't getting on." Then you haven't taken

Says Economy of Spa Will Survive
HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) - Mort Cox, executive secretary of the Hot Springs Chamber of Commerce, said Wednesday the closure of illegal gambling will effect the city's economy, but it will survive.

"Ours is not a Johnny-come-lately economy built on gambling alone," he told a civic club here.

The visitor still is the foundation of Hot Springs' economy, Cox said, and "to the visitors I say take home the story that Hot Springs is still in business, still has plenty to do, and may be these things will be back later."

He did not say what he meant by "these things."

Cox criticized newspaper articles which he said indicated that Hot Springs would founder economically because Gov. Orval E. Faubus ordered the casinos closed.

program, an attempt to orbit an unmanned spacecraft, is scheduled for Tuesday.

A National Aeronautics and Space Administration announcement Wednesday said major goals of the test will be to check the orbital ability of the Titan 2 rocket, spacecraft structural integrity and compatibility of the rocket-capsule combination.

If the flight and a second unmanned mission scheduled for next summer are successful, two astronauts are to ride a Gemini craft on a three-orbit ride in November or December.

Technical difficulties with the Titan 2 and the spacecraft have delayed the program nearly a year.

Cypriot Students Demonstrate
NOCOSIA, Cyprus (AP) - Several hundred Greek Cypriot secondary school students demonstrated in Nicosia today, shouting for "enosis" - union of Cyprus with Greece.

The students carried placards demanding the return to Cyprus of Gen. George Grivas, founder and leader of the underground Eoka movement, who is now living in virtual exile in Athens.

The students paraded past the Greek Embassy building, then went to the presidential palace two miles outside Nicosia. The president of Cyprus, Archbishop Makarios, is the leader of the Greek Cypriot community.

Says Brothers May Do Well Politically
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - The non-candidate Rockefeller brother, banker David of New York, arrived in Nashville for a business visit Wednesday night commenting business pressures prevent him from keeping close tabs on his two others.

But he indicated Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and Winthrop Rockefeller might indirectly aid each other in their races.

Nelson is seeking the GOP presidential nomination. Reports from Arkansas say Winthrop, who resigned Wednesday as chairman of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission, is about to become a candidate for governor.

David Rockefeller, president of New York City's Chase-Manhattan Bank, said he had no late word on the status of brother Winthrop.

"I don't know what Win will do, but if he runs strongly urging a two party system in Arkansas and the South, it should hurt Nelson's chances for the national nomination."

Of Nelson's chances he commented: "Everybody knows his race is a tough uphill fight, but they also know that he's a very tough fighter."

NEW YORK (AP)-American lives, blood, money and material are deeply involved in the struggle between South Viet Nam and the Communist Viet Cong that has been going on since the early 1950s.

"CBS Reports" Wednesday night undertook an examination of the "nasty little war," as narrator Charles Collingwood called it. It showed the difficult conditions - experienced guerrillas, the problem of identifying ally from enemy in a civil war and the lack of enthusiasm of the Vietnamese people for the long struggle.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, in a taped interview, said: "If the Communists were to control Viet Nam almost surely, eventually, their control would extend through Southeast Asia and there would be a ripple effect as far west, probably, as Pakistan and as far east as the Philippines and certainly to the south through Indonesia."

Much of the program was devoted to side issues - the destruction of the villages and displacement of the people, the disturbed political situation and bits from a furious, bitter interview with Mme. Nhu, former

FBI Agent Sues for Damages
NEW YORK (AP)-An FBI agent is suing for $750,000 damages for injuries suffered in a beating by members of a Brooklyn family that authorities say has connections with Cosa Nostra.

The agent, John P. Foley, 42, filed the suit Wednesday in U.S. District Court.

He was in a hospital for six weeks with a fractured skull and other injuries. His suit says some of the injuries are permanent.

Foley was beaten, kicked and clubbed April 3, 1963, outside Immaculate Heart of Mary Roman Catholic church in Brooklyn while photographing persons attending funeral services for Carmello Lombardo.

The suit named as defendants four Lombardois and two relatives arrested in connection with the attack. Five of the men were sentenced to 20-month jail terms for assault. One Lombardois was acquitted.

Case Settled for Only $630,000
MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP) - The record $1.1 million awarded to 13-year-old Martin Ergas for injuries that left him permanently paralyzed from the waist down has been reduced to $630,000 in an out-of-court settlement.

The Barricini Candy Co. and its insurance company agreed to drop plans to appeal the verdict.

The $630,000 settlement was approved Wednesday by State Supreme Court Justice Joseph Suozzi who presided at the trial of the suit last September.

The $1.1-million verdict was the total amount asked in the suit filed by the boy's father, Jack Ergas, a cotton broker, of Cedarhurst, N.Y.

Martin was struck by a heavy sheet metal and wood sign blown off the roof of one of the Barricini stores in Manhattan on June 26, 1958. His skull was fractured and is spinal cord was torn.

Southern Club Closed at Spa
HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) - The Southern Club, one of the three big clubs whose gambling casinos were shut down here early Sunday, closed its theater Wednesday night and cancelled bookings for Julius LaRosa and other top entertainers.

Jack Pakis, co-owner of the club, said that although the club had good crowds since the gambling shutdown, it could not make enough money without gambling to continue bringing in top entertainment.

The Vapors Club theater will remain open, at least for the time being, operator Dan Harris said. The Belvedere, which Harris also runs, would have closed Saturday night anyway. It is open only during the racing season.

Mort Cox, secretary-manager of the Hot Springs Chamber of Commerce, said Wednesday the closure of illegal gambling will effect the city's economy, but Hot Springs will survive.

First Lady now in Paris exile. ABC has announced that Dinah Shore will be on its network next season with four evening variety specials and three daytime shows especially designed for the feminine audience.

The singer is under a long-term NBC contract, so some complicated negotiations to release her have been under way. An NBC special about the Indianapolis Speedway and the big Memorial Day auto race is scheduled for May 28.

Auto Overturns, Driver Killed
JACKSONVILLE, Ark. (AP) -George Frank Willis, 29, of Jacksonville, was killed Wednesday night when his car went out of control and overturned.

Charley Crook of the Jacksonville Police Department said Willis' car left Pulaski County Road 161 on a curve and turned over five times. Willis was alone, Crook said.

Don't Swear!

It's a Bible command... a common-sense law of life. "Thou shalt not take the name of The Lord Thy God in vain." THEN WHY DO YOU DO IT???

Careless habit? Limited vocabulary? Calloused soul? ... JUST WHY DO YOU DO IT? "The Lord will not hold him guiltless that taketh His name in vain." Man, too, will hold you guilty. The members of your family, — the fellows in your office, — the stranger on the street

... none of them like it! Your family deserves better of you. Your neighbors expect better of you. God requires better of you. Go to church and break the swearing habit. Learn to respect and honor and reverence God's name. Please don't swear!
